

Instructions for outdoor and indoor compartmentalisation due to COVID-19

Restrictions on the size of gatherings depends on the decision of the authorities at any given time.

As of 31 July 2020, all indoor and outdoor areas may not accommodate more than 100 people unless the area can be divided into separate sections with no more than 100 people. Children born in 2005 and later are not included in this number.

There should be no contact (mixing) between sections. It goes against the purpose of the number limit to have areas divided into separate sections with no more than 100 people but then to have many sections come together elsewhere, e.g. in the same restaurant.

In all areas, it is applicable that individuals should not enter the area if they:

- Are in quarantine or taking part in infection prevention measures on arrival back home to Iceland.
- Are in isolation (also while waiting for screening results).
- Have been in isolation due to COVID-19 infection and 14 days have not passed since discharge.
- Have symptoms (cold, cough, fever, headache, bone or muscle aches, fatigue).

Individuals should respect the 2-metre distance limit between those who do not share a home. Children born in 2005 and later are exempt.

Easy access to hand washing facilities and hand sanitiser must be provided.

Each defined section must be clearly separated. Each section must have its own entrance and exit, and no contact is allowed between the sections.

Toilets must be separate for each section, and two toilets are preferred for each section as well as hand washing facilities.

Ticket sales, sales of refreshments and other similar services need to be separated for each section. Employees providing these services may not move between sections. The same goes for servers.

The common contact surfaces must be cleaned and disinfected at least daily or more often depending on the circumstances.

Visitors need to be urged to exercise extreme caution and respect the 2-metre distance limit rules and infection prevention. Reminder posters are available and can be printed out and hung up (<https://www.covid.is/veggspjold>).

Restaurants where alcoholic beverages are allowed may not stay open longer than until 23:00, every day of the week. Events where there are no alcoholic beverages are encouraged to stay open no longer than to 23:00.
